

How was Memorial Day!

Well, we still have to give May a send off with the Memorial Day events, before we talk about June! To the right, you can see the food line for our catered cook out. This took place along side the Club House on the big lake; and will be the same location for our annual Fourth of July Celebration. It is a great time to meet and talk with neighbors we don't see every day. We usually get a very good turn out. If you look closely, you will see Bob in the food line at the end of the serving table, getting ready to stack his plate.

Now June was a busy month for Bob & I with annual medical appointments and projects we started. With Windows 10 coming out soon, we all know whose project that is!! Not mine!!! For me, it was working outdoors with my potted flower arrangements. I will even have some pictures of my colorful 'babies' for you to check out. This Summer really did start out 'hot'! Long time residents took it in stride, but we are not in that category quite yet!

I thought I would include the next picture which Bob got when he zeroed in on our home via Google Earth. Ours is the one in the middle with the light colored roof. It was taken recently as it has our new screen room on the back by the lake. Neat!! Right? The picture to the right, is of my Siamese Daisy twins! When it was unfolding, I couldn't figure out what was wrong with it. Then I realized that it was two pods attached to each other on one stem.

Then one day, we tried a new restaurant Bob found online. This is a local's secret, we decided, as it was definitely off the beaten path, hidden away. Since it is in a Marina on the Waccamaw River, it is more popular with boat owners. It is called K-Rae's Waterway Bar & Grille and is located in Murrells Inlet. We ate outdoors in the shade of the Hugh Bald Cypress tree. Below that is a tour air boat coming back in the same Marina. Below is a picture of the River Front in Conway, SC with people coming by boat to join in a local town festival.

Last but not least, meet my little pet frog, who has an unbelievably loud call!!!

That tree frog sounds just like a duck and is 'loud'!!!
